Just going to acknowledge right now that I won't be sending out a link to the website today for the start of your review. So if you were counting on that for your day to feel complete, well sorry.

Nothing's going wrong, I'm just not moving as quickly as I'd like. I also talked to Fred this morning, and we technically have until Friday the 7th to turn this in. I'm not planning on waiting until that point, still plan to have it all done by Tuesday night's class, but if we need to make revisions up until Friday, know that we can do so.

Thanks for the update, Mon. We are all excited to see the website, but it's a huge project, so no worries if you need more time. Having contributors take FOREVER to get you their materials doesn't help, I know. ;) Anyway, thanks for all your hard work, and let me/us know if you want a hand with anything.
